We know the secret to what makes New Hampshire great!

New Hampshire was built with the integrity, independence and grit of its people. Through the centuries, immigrants have helped to make New Hampshire a great place to live, bringing new ideas, cultures and skills.

Those who are new Americans continue to be an important part of the Granite State’s heritage. Though many have endured hardship, they bring strength, resiliency and determination. Their energy and fortitude will help New Hampshire continue to grow and prosper.

We welcome new Americans and their willingness to work hard and give their best. They look forward to making a good life for their families. Like all of us, newcomers seek a good education for their kids and to infuse their talents into our thriving communities and growing economy.

New Hampshire welcomes new Americans with their energy and determination to succeed.

This contributes to the greatness of the Granite State.
